A legal education is a professional education. You will use the substantive legal knowledge and practice skills you develop in law school every day of your life as a lawyer and community leader. Your law school experience is the opportunity of your lifetime to build the foundation of your future successful legal career. Accordingly, you must choose the environment in which you personally will learn the most and grow the most.

At SJCL, your personal growth as a legal practitioner is our foremost objective. This is apparent from the study skills course given by faculty the summer preceding first-year classes to the myriad practice skills courses embodied in SJCL’s curriculum. Class sizes are small, averaging 25 people per section, providing you an unparalleled opportunity to interact with your professors and classmates. Faculty have an open-door policy, enabling you regularly to obtain assistance or compare ideas. As grading is not on a curve, faculty and students are all motivated to work as a team for everyone’s success.

Opportunities for real-life experience abound in the San Joaquin Valley area. Internship and clinical placements in federal and state courts, district attorney’s offices, administrative agencies, legal aid, and private firms are readily available. Moreover, employment opportunities in the area have always been available even when scarce in other markets.

The San Joaquin Valley is the growth area for California’s future. Outstanding legal practitioners will be needed. San Joaquin College of Law offers you the opportunity to be a part of that future or any future you choose. Come grow with us!

Dean Janice Pearson
One Degree. A World of Options.

Individual Attention
At SJCL, the study of law is an intense endeavor, but the skills and doctrines learned will benefit you professionally on a daily basis. Our small class sizes allow students to receive individual attention from faculty. At SJCL, the competition is against one’s self and high professional standards – not other students.

Learning Outcomes
SJCL strives to produce skilled legal professionals who contribute to the development of legal and social institutions, provide wise leadership and zealous representation, and promote the integrity of the legal system. The Law Program endeavors to:
• Outcome 1. Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the structures and processes of the U.S. legal system and foundational substantive law, including subjects tested on bar examinations
• Outcome 2. Demonstrate proficiency in legal analysis and problem solving.
• Outcome 3. Demonstrate competence in written and oral communication in a variety of settings.
• Outcome 4. Demonstrate mastery of appropriate strategies and technologies to research legal issues effectively and efficiently.
• Outcome 5. Demonstrate the ability to recognize and resolve ethical issues and exhibit professionalism.
• Outcome 6. Demonstrate practical skills commonly used in legal practice.

Accreditation
San Joaquin College of Law is accredited by the Committee of Bar Examiners of the State Bar of California, permitting SJCL graduates to sit for the California Bar Exam, as well as by the Accrediting Commission for Senior Colleges and Universities of the Western Association of Schools and Colleges, an institutional accrediting body recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation and the U.S. Department of Education.

A Unique Student Body
SJCL students don’t fit a particular mold. They are simply motivated and ready to learn. Our students represent a variety of ages and backgrounds. If you’re seeking a legal career, looking for a change of pace, or wanting to enhance your professional skills – SJCL is for you. Our student body reflects SJCL’s progressive and diverse environment.
• Ages range from 22 to 56, averaging 32
• Approximately 70 percent are change-of-career students
• Approximately 50 percent are women
• Approximately 33 percent identify with a minority group

Abundant Careers
The SJCL course of study combines theoretical knowledge with practical skills. Our clinical programs place students in a variety of legal settings, providing students with the stimulating job experience and professional contacts to facilitate a natural transition into the legal field. Most SJCL graduates find employment locally, while some venture into California’s most competitive markets. As SJCL is the only law school in the Central Valley our students benefit from the multitude of internships, clerkships and career options.

Ensuring Success
The staff at SJCL understands that many students have responsibilities that extend beyond law school. Every effort is made to facilitate each student’s personal academic success. Dedicated faculty members regularly hold study and review sessions. Students are encouraged to organize study groups – building camaraderie that translates into professional contacts after graduation.
San Joaquin College of Law offers a flexible program leading to the Juris Doctor degree. The degree can be attained in three, four, or five years. Attainment of the degree requires:

- Completion of 86 semester units: 68 units of required courses and 18 units of electives. Not more than eight (8) elective units may be in clinical work.
- A cumulative grade point average of 65 or better. (Although transfer units may be accepted, only work completed at SJCL is credited toward a student’s cumulative GPA).
- A minimum grade of 55 in all required courses.
- Course attendance totaling a minimum of 16 semester units per academic year.
- Completion of all graduation requirements within 5 years of initial enrollment, or 6 years from initial enrollment if the student was granted the right to repeat the first year, unless such limitation violates some state or federal, statutory or regulatory, provision.

Facilities & Location

Located in a park-like setting in downtown Clovis, SJCL occupies a 34,467 square foot Mediterranean Renaissance building. The facility consists of seven classrooms, the Courtroom, a 7,140 square foot library including group and individual study spaces, the New American Legal Clinic, Law Journal/student organizations offices, student lounge, and faculty and staff offices.

Cooperative Degree Program

SJCL seeks to add a new set of skills to the lawyer’s toolbox for resolving conflict by offering a cooperative degree with Fresno Pacific University. This new program joins the discipline of law with the humanistic approach of peacemaking to create a new breed of professional that promises to transform the way our society resolves conflict. Students simultaneously enrolled in both degree programs (MA/JD) can complete both degrees in four years because of the mutual recognition of elective units. Read more about this exciting new program at www.sjcl.edu/ coopdegree or at http://peace.fresno.edu.
Three Year Program

Students admitted to the Three-Year Program will complete their studies in three years, needing to attend only Fall and Spring semesters, having summers free to pursue internship or clerking opportunities. The Three-Year Program is a full-time program. Three-Year Program students are required to take at least 4 clinical units. While attending classes in the Fall and Spring semesters, students enrolled in the Three-Year program must not work more than 20 hours per week in any type of employment.

Fourth-Year Program

The Four-Year Program is designed for working adults. Students attend classes four days per week (evenings 6:30 - 9:30pm) for the first two years. The last two years are completed by attending classes three days per week. The typical program requires attendance at two or three summer sessions.

The Four-Year Program requires an average of ten (10) classroom hours each week throughout the four years. A student should expect to spend approximately three (3) hours in preparation time for each hour of classroom time.

Some courses have day sessions, giving students the ability to tailor a study program to individual family and work needs.

Three-Year Accelerated Program
A student in the Four-Year program who finishes the first year with a minimum of 70 GPA can accelerate his or her studies by transferring to the Three-Year Program. A student transferring to the Three-Year Program must plan the two final years of his or her program carefully in advance. A student choosing to transfer is REQUIRED to meet with the Director of Student Services, Academic Dean, or Dean, for approval prior to registering for the summer session after the first year of study. A student transferring to the Three-Year Program is required to take additional courses during the second and third years and full summer session loads of 6 units (a combination of electives and externship units). Students generally do the externship work during the summers, after summer session.

A student transferring to the Three-Year program must abide by all requirements and any limitations imposed upon Three-Year program students.

Five-Year Program
Students who must extend their education because of family or work commitments can reduce the per semester course load and complete the program in five years.

The Juris Doctor degree must be completed within a total of five years from the time of admission.

Total Required Units 68

Total Elective Units 18

Total Units 86
Experiential Learning

SJCL offers students the opportunity to earn credits for placements at one of our In-house clinics or at an externship. Students can experience the actual practice of law under an attorney’s supervision. Students are eligible for earning 8 units upon completion of their first year of study. Externships offer opportunities to work in governmental agencies, judicial settings, or private law practices, subject to the approval of the Dean for Academic Affairs.

As part of the externship experience, students may be certified to appear in court under the supervision of a licensed attorney under the Rules Governing the Practical Training of Law Students of the California State Bar which are available from the registrar.

In House Clinic

NEW AMERICAN LEGAL CLINIC

Students enrolled in the Clinic, under clinical director supervision, will take on all major aspects of representing a client before the United States Citizenship and Immigration Service (USCIS), including interviewing clients, preparing forms, analyzing and arguing complex legal issues, and attending USCIS applicant interviews. The Clinic also has a classroom component in which students learn the basics of immigration, citizenship, and laws protecting immigrant victims of human trafficking and family violence.

Externships

Legal work heightens a student’s understanding of class content, enhances practical skills and introduces the student to the “real world” of law practice. SJCL provides and encourages a variety of placement opportunities. Students are eligible for externship study upon completion of the first year of law school.

Established placement opportunities to obtain legal experience and clinical units are available with numerous governmental agencies and private law offices. Many of these are ongoing, but the number of students that a firm or agency can accommodate is limited. A student alternatively may create an individual clinical, where he or she works under the supervision of an attorney, with the approval of the Dean of Academic Affairs. Information on clinical placements may be obtained from the Director of Student Services.

The placement process is like applying for a professional position. The student should submit a resume along with a personalized cover letter to the contact person. Typically a writing sample is also needed, so the student should have one ready. The student should register for the clinical units through the admission/registrar’s office after he or she has been selected for the position. For further information regarding the placements see either the Director of Student Services or the Dean for Academic Affairs.

Disclaimer: San Joaquin College of Law does not affirm or represent that any particular posting or opportunity for an off-campus, non-SJCL internship, externship, job, or other placement, whether paid or unpaid, complies with The Fair Labor Standards Act and/or other applicable Federal and State Labor and Employment Laws.

PRACTICAL TRAINING OF LAW STUDENTS PROGRAM, OR “CERTIFIED” LAW STUDENTS

Pursuant to California Rules of Court, rule 9.42, the State Bar of California’s Practical Training of Law Students (PTLS) program certifies law students to provide limited legal services under the supervision of an attorney. To be eligible to apply for certification a student must have completed one full year of law school (270 hours). The student must also be enrolled in and attending, or have successfully completed, Evidence and Civil Procedure courses. For complete rules see the California Bar website at www.calbar.ca.gov.

Academic Enrichment

MOOT COURT

All students are required to take “Moot Court.” In teams of two, students prepare an appellate brief on a current topic and argue the topic orally in the George Hopper Moot Court Competition, held annually in the Fall. These arguments are judged by local judges, attorneys and alumni. The course is required to be taken in the Fall semester of the second year.
In addition to local competition, SJCL participates in statewide and national Moot Court competitions (Roger J. Traynor, National Securities Law and National Tax Law), and has distinguished itself among teams from top ABA institutions. Those who go on to these competitions receive additional coaching from the Moot Court instructors and experts in the community.

SJCL AGRICULTURAL LAW REVIEW
In 1989-90, SJCL founded the San Joaquin Agricultural Law Review -- one of only two law journals in the United States focusing on agricultural issues. The inaugural issue was published in the summer of 1991.

Serving on Law Review entails completion of the “Law Review Writing” requirement, and extensive administrative, research, and editing functions as assigned by the Editorial Board.

“Law Review Writing” requires researching a topic of interest in the agricultural field and writing a comment, or two case notes of publishable quality. Generally, the comment will be written during the Summer, Fall & Spring semesters of a student’s second year of study. The editing and research tasks may be completed on any schedule negotiated with the Editorial Board. Details of expectations can be found in the San Joaquin Agricultural Law Review Policy and Procedures Manual.

TEACHING AND RESEARCH ASSISTANTSHIPS
Students may be invited by faculty to act as teaching or research assistants. Teaching assistants may be asked to help the professor prepare for class, help evaluate student work or conduct supplemental class sessions, small sections, etc. as directed by the professor. Research assistants typically will pursue research on a particular topic or subject matter as directed by the professor and report, in writing, in a format requested by the professor. Students can earn elective units for teaching or research assistantships. Students who qualify for federal financial aid may alternatively receive hourly compensation for their work through federal work-study. Teaching or research assistant positions DO NOT qualify as clinical experience and may not be used to satisfy any required clinical units.

STUDY ABROAD
SJCL does not sponsor a study abroad program, but students can request approval for credit in a program offered through another institution. Contact the Dean for Academic Affairs several months in advance to submit a request for approval to the SJCL Faculty Committee. Students can receive elective credit on a pass/fail basis for approved study abroad programs. Students seeking financial aid to cover tuition costs must contact the Director of Financial Aid at least two months in advance of the start of any study abroad program.
Grading Standards
San Joaquin College of Law employs a rigorous, objective grading policy. Grading is NOT on a curve. Strict academic standards assure students that they possess the training and discipline necessary for the legal profession.

Course grades are based primarily upon final examinations. These are administered under a system that ensures the student’s anonymity.

Some professors also consider outside assignments, class attendance, and class preparation in grading. The standards used by each professor are announced at the beginning of the course.

Numerical Grading
All courses are graded numerically, with the exception of Law Review, clinical programs, independent study, and some skills courses for which a grade of PASS or FAIL will be entered.

Grading Scale
85 – 100............................ Excellent
75 – 84............................... Good
65 – 74............................... Adequate
55 – 64...... Inadequate, But Passing
Below 55 ....................... Not Passing

A grade of 55 is the minimum passing grade. No credit is given for courses in which the student has earned a grade of FAIL (a grade lower than 55), or has failed to sit for any required examination. A student who fails a required course is required to repeat the course. The Law School does not permit any course to be challenged by examination.

Satisfactory Progress
All first year students must pass (a passing grade is 55 or better) at least two first-year core courses and attain a 55 cumulative GPA to be eligible to advance to the second semester. First-year core courses are Torts, Civil Procedure, and Contracts. Students who do not meet both criteria will be academically excluded. No probation will be granted to such students to advance to the second semester.

For all students, a cumulative GPA of 65 or better thereafter is required for advancement to each subsequent year in law school and for graduation. Each student’s cumulative GPA is calculated annually, at the end of the Spring semester, for purposes of advancement to the next year in law school. Academic disqualifications are determined at that time. Except under extraordinary circumstances, a student must complete the program within five (5) years of initial enrollment. See the sections on “Academic Disqualification- Probation Status” and “Juris Doctor Degree Requirements” for additional information.

Academic Disqualification – Probation
First year students who are disqualified for failure to attain a cumulative GPA of 65 at the end of Spring Semester may petition the Faculty Committee to continue on Probation or to restart the program. Advanced students who are disqualified for failure to maintain a cumulative GPA of 65 may petition the Faculty Committee for Probation. Students granted
Graduation with High Honors
The degree of Juris Doctor “With High Honors” will be awarded to any student who satisfies the following requirements:
1. Completion of the degree requirements with a cumulative GPA of 85 or better, OR
2. Completion of the degree requirements with a cumulative GPA of 82 or better, and:
   A) Preparation, with no more than two (2) other students, of at least one moot court brief for any national or regional competition, provided that the Dean and Faculty Chairperson deem such student’s contribution to the brief to be of high quality.
   OR
   B) Preparation of a Law Review article which satisfies the requirements for candidacy on the SJALR or a scholarly article accepted for publication by any other recognized law journal.
   C) Successful completion of the cooperative degree program with Fresno Pacific University.

Attendance and Preparedness Policy
Class attendance and preparation are crucial for success in law school. The California Committee of Bar Examiners requires that a student must attend at least 80% of the scheduled sessions of a course to receive credit.

Students are permitted the following number of absences per course per semester or summer session, regardless of the reason for the absence:

Number of Permitted Course Session Absences
1 - 3 sessions .........................None
4 - 7 sessions ..........................1
8 - 11 sessions ..........................2
12 - 16 sessions .........................3
17 - 22 sessions .........................4
23 - 27 sessions ..........................5
28 - 32 sessions ..........................6

Upon exceeding the permitted number of absences, the student will be automatically dropped from the course. The student will receive a refund of the unearned tuition consistent with SJCL’s dropping a class refund policy. For more details, see the SJCL Student Handbook.

Graduation with Distinction
The degree of Juris Doctor “With Distinction” will be awarded to any student who completes the degree requirements with a cumulative GPA of 78 or better.

Graduation with Honors
The degree of Juris Doctor “With Honors” will be awarded to any student who completes the degree requirements with a cumulative GPA of 82 or better.

probation have until the end of the next Spring Semester to raise their cumulative GPA to 65. Except under extraordinary circumstances no student shall be granted more than one probationary period. Students receiving Veteran’s Benefits can only receive such Benefits during one probationary period.
Student Bar Association

The San Joaquin College of Law Student Bar Association, of which all students are members, provides an opportunity for public service and the discussion of student issues.

Each group of students in the same class year at the Law School selects two class representatives, which form the governing group of the Student Bar Association. The representatives of the first year class are selected each fall. The representatives of the upper classes and the officers are selected annually during the spring semester. Officers include the President, Vice President, Treasurer, and Secretary.

The Student Bar Association coordinates a number of annual events, including portions of the first year orientation, the new student reception, and the annual spring awards banquet.

The Student Bar Association coordinates the Outstanding Student Award Program, in which candidates are nominated by members of their respective classes based on outstanding scholarship, leadership, and contributions to the class. The Student Bar Association also coordinates the Student Mentoring Program. In addition, the Student Bar Association sponsors scholarships.

Delta Theta Phi

We encourage law students to consider being a member of the nation’s premier law fraternity. Delta Theta Phi, which can trace its roots to 1900, has initiated more than 136,000 members locally, across the country, and in several other nations. Many of our members are distinguished persons in government, in business, in international affairs, on the judiciary, and in the general practice of law. Membership is open to all students enrolled in the law program.

As members, students have an opportunity to become involved in the legal community, while participating in professional seminars, social events, and community service. They may qualify for scholarships and award programs, student loans, and grants through the local or national Senate. Delta Theta Phi is the only law fraternity with an authoritatively recognized law review. Each member also receives the “Paper Book,” a quarterly publication of Delta Theta Phi.

Law Students United in Tolerance (LawSUiT)

LawSUiT exists to build a sense of unity between members and to promote appreciation of diversity issues within the student body and the community through our pursuit of academic excellence, service to the school, and the coordination of activities:

- To promote SJCL to the diverse population of the Central San Joaquin Valley.
- To provide support and encouragement to new students adjusting to life as a law student.
- In furtherance of these objectives, LawSUiT extends its invitation of membership to all.

Law Students for Community Advancement (LSCA)

LSCA’s primary mission is to invigorate a culture of engagement at SJCL and empower the student body by facilitating positive and impactful relationships with our community. We believe that as law students and future legal professionals, we have a duty to advocate for social justice in our community. We seek to prioritize knowledge over information by restoring the value of language and promoting dialogue. LSCA opposes racism, sexism, homophobia, and other forms of oppression, and provides a place for like-minded students to access resources and organize their efforts. Through community outreach and education, we hope to create a community that embraces knowledge and promotes tolerance.
Career Services
Career Services assists students and alumni by informing them of career options and job search strategies, and connecting them with potential employers. Career Services provides career counseling, résumé reviews, and mock interviews along with an extensive resource library and programs throughout the year designed to help students narrow their areas of interest. Additionally, Career Services maintains an on-line listing of employment opportunities called Legal Jobs at www.sjcl.edu/jobs.

Students are encouraged to participate in clinical study which heightens a student’s understanding of class content, enhances practical skills and introduces the student to the “real world” of law. Career Services assists in the placement of students in a wide variety of positions ranging from judicial clerkships to misdemeanor prosecutorial teams. Students are also encouraged to participate in uncompensated work, beginning their professional obligation to engage in pro bono work.

Financial Aid
Financial aid is available to qualifying students seeking help in meeting the cost of their educational endeavors. A Financial Aid Administrator is on staff to provide detailed information and assistance.

Financial aid application instructions and forms are updated each January at the school website, www.sjcl.edu/finaid, for the upcoming academic year. For continuing students, the deadline for submission of required financial aid forms is April 30 of each year. New students should complete the forms as early as possible, but no later than June 30 (exceptions can be made for late admits).

Types of Financial Aid Available
Federal Direct Loans are the major form of financial aid for law students. Any eligible, regular student enrolled at least half-time may borrow Federal Direct Loans. The maximum annual loan limit is the lesser of $20,500 or the cost of attendance minus other financial aid. Most students are eligible for the $20,500 maximum. Loan limits may be less for students without a BA/BS degree. Contact the Director of Financial Aid for specific loan maximums.

Grad PLUS Loans, graduate students are also eligible to borrow under the Federal PLUS Program up to their total cost of attendance minus all other estimated financial assistance. Federal Direct unsubsidized loans must be applied for first.

Federal Work-Study jobs are available on a limited basis to students with need. Most positions require the completion of the first year of law school to qualify. Contact the Financial Aid Department for further details or visit SJCL’s on-line listing of employment opportunities called Jobs at www.sjcl.edu/jobs.

Scholarships, ranging from $500 to $2,500, are awarded each spring to about 35 recipients. Private groups outside San Joaquin College of Law also offer scholarships to SJCL students. All scholarship information is emailed and/or posted on the Financial Aid bulletin board. Announcements provide specific information about provisions, qualifications, and deadlines. For further information about scholarships, contact the Financial Aid Department. For outside scholarships and grants, go to the SJCL website at www.sjcl.edu/finaid, click on “Search Outside Scholarships.”

Veteran’s Educational Benefits are available to eligible students. Contact the Financial Aid Office or local Veteran’s Administration Office to ascertain eligibility and amount of assistance. Members of the Selected Reserve may also be eligible for educational assistance.

Alumni Association

SJCL’s Alumni Association endeavors to strengthen alumni connections and provide support to current students, graduates, the law school, and the community. The Alumni Board, along with the help of committees and volunteers, present several events each year. Among them are the SJCL Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony, Senior Citizens Law Day, Got MCLE?, the Marjaree Mason Christmas Party, Bar Survival Talks, and the Judy Wiseman Memorial Golf Tournament. Through these and other events, the Alumni Association provides scholarships for law students as well as community service programs and mentoring activities. In addition, SJCL Alumni maintain a strong professional network among their classmates. SJCL graduates have distinguished themselves as judges and court commissioners (thirty-six), the California Health and Human Services Secretary, the former Deputy Undersecretary of the California Environmental Protection Agency, and the current District Attorneys for Fresno and Kings Counties, just to name a few.

SJCL’s Law Library holds more than 80,000 volumes, including law reviews, annotated codes, appellate court reports of all jurisdictions, and complete Federal and California collections. The resources available include the principal secondary sources and a growing collection of practice materials.

The SJCL Library is a member of several state and national interlibrary loan networks. Virtually any journal, law review, manuscript or treatise can be accessed through our library.

In addition, hundreds of thousands of volumes are available through subscriptions to Lexis-Nexis, Hein Online, The Making of Modern Law Collection, ebrary.com, and WestLaw, to which students have unlimited access for academic projects. Many students access these systems from their homes or from SJCL’s Wi-Fi network.

Study carrels are available for individual studying. Two rooms are available for study group meetings on the second floor.

The “Rule of Law” Collection
The “Rule of Law” collection is a gift from James K. and Carol Sellers Herbert. It includes works on jurisprudence, philosophy, and history. It is designed to enable students to explore the classic writings on the crucial role of law in a civilized society.

The Peace Collection
The Peace Collection was donated to the SJCL Library by Doug Noll, the Chair of SJCL’s Board of Trustees. The original collection consisted of 165 titles, covering a range of subjects and all have a common thread of Peace and/or non-violent conflict resolution. Titles include the subjects of religion, philosophy, sociology, history, psychology, negotiation, mediation and law. The Peace Collection is housed in the same room as the Rule of Law Collection.

The Winton Collection
The J. Martin Winton Collection on Land Development, Water Use, and the Public Trust Doctrine was donated to San Joaquin College of Law in 1988. The Collection represents Winton’s lifelong interest and commitment to preserving the natural resources of the San Joaquin Valley and includes books, reports, records, maps, photographs, and personal papers on San Joaquin wildlife and water development. The Collection, which has been archived and indexed, is housed in our Winton Special Collections Room and is available by appointment only.

Professional writing style and the methods of powerful written communication are covered. (3 units)

The School reserves the right to modify or withdraw courses of instruction, or to change instructors at any time.
L145 Basic Individual Income Taxation
This course is designed to introduce students to the fundamental concepts with regard to income taxation under federal law, with primary emphasis on individuals. The course more specifically examines identification of income subject to taxation, identification of the proper taxpayer, deductions allowable in computing taxable income, the proper year of inclusion of deductions, characterizations of income and deductions, deferral and non-recognition of income deductions, computation of taxable income and tax liabilities, and basic federal tax procedures. (3 units)

L156 Moot Court Competition
Upon recommendation of the Moot Court Director, students participating in external moot court competitions may receive academic credit. (2 units)

L201 On-Line Legal Research
This course focuses on the use of electronic resources to conduct general legal research. It will examine different effective means of performing legal research; explore searching methods for both Lexis-Nexis and Westlaw and examine other online materials and their use. The course will introduce students to some specialized research. This is designed as a skills course. Students will complete a series of graded research assignments both during class and outside of class. Students will maintain a research log which records their research process. Course limited to those who completed Legal Research & Writing. (1 unit)

L202 Practice 99
Few consumers of legal services can afford to pay prevailing market rates. Some qualify for government-subsidized services such as CCLS. But the other “99 percent” often goes unserved, due to economic or geographical barriers. Practice 99 will teach law students to use law practice technology to deliver legal services to clients of limited means, and build a profitable practice while also expanding access to justice. Practice 99 will focus on cloud-based practice management platforms, building streamlined revenue models, delivering legal services online, and grassroots marketing to rural and modest means clients. Law students will leave Practice 99 empowered, with foundational tools for starting and growing a law practice of their own, and ready to serve the 99 percent. (1 unit)

L203 Legal Process
The course will focus on skills and knowledge useful for success on the California Bar Examination. Students will be exposed to bar-style essay exams, MBE exams, and Performance Exams. Students will also receive some substantive review in Torts, Contracts, and Constitutional Law. Enrollment will be limited to graduating students. (3 units)

L204 Analytical Process
In this one-unit, pass/no pass, class, students will explore how to enhance their understanding of the analytical process through a variety of practical exercises. These exercises will illustrate how the same basic analytical structure can be found in opinions, exam answers, memos, and even in more complicated legal documents. This class is required for students who have a GPA of less than 65 at the end of their first year. (1 unit)

L205 Administrative Law
Administrative Law addresses the practices and procedures by which administrative agencies act to implement governmental policies, as well as the rights citizens have to seek judicial review of agency actions. The course includes a review of the constitutional principles of separation of powers which determine the roles of the President, Congress and the Judiciary in overseeing administrative agencies. A particular focus is on federal administrative law and the operation of the Administrative Procedure Act, which govern the promulgation of rules and orders by federal administrative agencies, as well as the rights of citizens to challenge such agency action in court and seek monetary and injunctive relief. (2 units)

L206 Tribal Sovereign Immunity
This course explores the origin of tribal sovereign immunity, its evolution through the courts, and the effect that tribal sovereignty has had on the societal and business relationships with federally recognized tribes and their businesses. The course will examine and discuss some of the issues and concerns that a practitioner will have to address when representing clients who interact with federally recognized tribal governments. (2 units)

L207 Municipal Law
This course explores the origin of tribal sovereignty, its evolution through the courts, and the effect that tribal sovereignty has had on the societal and business relationships with federally recognized tribes and their businesses. The course will examine and discuss some of the issues and concerns that a practitioner will have to address when representing clients who interact with federally recognized tribal governments. (2 units)

L209 Species Protection Policy and Law
This course introduces students to environmental law and policy through the federal Endangered Species Act (ESA), arguably the most powerful and the most controversial environmental statute in the world. Lectures and readings will cover the policies behind the ESA; trace the statute’s step-by-step species protection scheme; examine key administrative rules and caselaw; and explore both sides of the public policy debate. Students will be evaluated based on small-group presentations, periodic short writing assignments, and a final paper. (2 units)

L210 Bankruptcy
Bankruptcy is designed to provide students with a fundamental understanding of basic bankruptcy law. The class will cover federal statutes giving rise to bankruptcy law, the Bankruptcy Code and Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, and the main participants in bankruptcy cases. The various chapters under the Bankruptcy Code will be discussed with particular emphasis on debtor and creditor rights in Chapter 7 and 13 cases. The course will also cover trustee’s duties, avoidance actions under the Bankruptcy Code, property of the estate, exemptions, the automatic stay, payments of claims under the priority scheme set out under the Bankruptcy Code, discharge, objections to discharge and the nondischargeability of certain debts. (2 units)

L212 Private Labor Law
The course focuses primarily on the rights of employees, employers, and labor organizations under the National Labor Relations
Act and related statutes, primarily in the areas of organizing and representation. The curriculum includes both a general study of the Act and specific decisions of the courts and NLRB interpreting the Act, as well as in-depth case studies of certain key areas of law developed under the Act. (2 units)

L213 Public Labor Law
The course will examine Constitutional and statutory considerations pertaining to employment relations issues concerning public employees, unionized and non-union, with particular emphasis on California law, and particularly the right to organize, bargaining rights, and the administration of finalized agreements containing terms and conditions of employment applicable to state, county, and other governmental employees. (2 units)

L215 Employment Law
This course provides an overview of various legal issues arising out of the employment relationship and the termination of the employment relationship. There will be an emphasis on employment discrimination, wrongful termination and related torts. (2 units)

L217 Civil Rights Litigation
This course will examine the jurisprudence, preparation, and practical application, through trial, of civil rights claims and defenses of constitutional and related torts redressable under the Federal Civil Rights Act, including related state law claims. The identification, formulation, presentation and perfection of such claims through appropriate governmental entities followed by preparation and filing of a complaint, the answer, and other pleading stage issues will be considered. All aspects of the prosecution and defenses of constitutional torts, through jury trial, including the full panoply of remedies and defenses available will be treated. Emphasis will be placed on preparation for and trial of such cases. (3 Units)

L219 Mediating Family & Relationship Conflicts
This course is an overview of the law, policies, and practices of mediation in family law matters, as well as the roles of attorneys in mediation, confidentiality, conflicts of interests, and mediation standards. Class attendance and completion of a research project are required. (1 unit)

L220 Law Practice Management
This course covers the skills of managing a law practice and provides a basic understanding of the skills needed to succeed in the practice of law. The course will cover the organization and management of legal work as well as practical knowledge about how law firms really work. The class will divide into “law firms” and produce projects in various areas. The course will cover a number of topics including the business side of law practice, such as management and planning skills, as well as legal issues that impact law firms, such as partnership law, labor and employment law, leasing, pension law and malpractice. The course will also explore financial issues, technology, as well as principles of professional responsibility in these areas. (2 units)

L225 Civil Trial Practice
This course covers civil trial preparation and presentation, including file summary and organization, voir dire, direct and cross examinations, and opening and closing arguments. Rules of evidence and trial objections are included. Extensive class participation including the mock trial of a civil action is required. (3 units)

L230 Federal Courts and the Federal System
This course is an advanced seminar analyzing select issues relating to federal court jurisprudence. Topics will include the authority of Congress to restrict the jurisdiction of the federal courts, justiciability (standing, mootness, ripeness, etc.), subject matter jurisdiction of federal courts, the Eleventh Amendment, federal common law, abstention and federal civil rights under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Completion of this course will give the student a greater sense of confidence in practicing before federal courts. (2 units)

L235 Constitutional Law Research Seminar
Students will engage in collaborative research on a very focused constitutional law topic selected by the instructor. Completion of Constitutional Law may be helpful but is NOT required. Class time will include lecture material on the research topic, discussion and analysis of research results, and ongoing reformulation of research strategies. Grade is based on the quality of the student’s research and contribution to classroom discussions. (2 units)

L239 Contract Drafting
This course provides introductory drafting methods for various types of business contracts and alternative dispute resolution clauses. The specific practice areas to be examined will vary from year to year, but may include, for example: employment contracts, personnel policies, real estate purchase agreements, title insurance policies, loan and collateral documents, deeds of trust, security agreements, assignments, processor/grower contracts and leases, various UCC agreements, and settlement agreements. (2 units)

This course will provide an overview of the relative rights the individual and government concerning the use and regulation of land. Course topics will include nuisance law, eminent domain, community planning, zoning, local land use entitlements, subdivision maps, environmental regulations, development fees, inverse condemnation, and judicial review. (2 units)

L244 Water Law
This course examines the development of water law from English and Eastern riparian theory, through the California and Western prior appropriation doctrine, and then to present day institutional, statutory, and judicial water resource governance. (2 units)

L245 Family Law
This course is an introduction to the laws and procedures relating to marriage and family relations, including the rights and obligations of spouses, terminating the marital relationship, parent and child relations, child and spousal support, non-marital relationships, and adoptions, with an emphasis on practice under the California Family Code. (2 units)

L250 Advanced Criminal Law
This advanced criminal procedure course will explore current and practical pretrial issues in the criminal arena. Topics will include charging discretion, arraignment and bail hearings, preliminary hearings, discovery practice, pleas, plea bargains, case negotiation and sentencing considerations, pretrial case preparation and investigation strategies, motion practice and pretrial writs and appellate remedies. Course methodology will include traditional casebook learning coupled with regular in-class mock adversarial exercises. Pre-requisite: completion of criminal law/criminal procedure or extensive criminal law work background. (3 units)

L251 Criminal Trial Practice
This course will present a detailed analysis of the elements of each stage of a criminal trial. The conduct of a complete trial will be emphasized; however, trial preparation, sentencing and post trial responsibilities of counsel will be included. Practices in state trial courts will be emphasized. Class participation is required. (3 units)

L255 Juvenile Justice
This course will provide an overview of Juvenile Justice, focusing on delinquency issues. The course will explore the underlying and evolving policies and philosophies of delinquency proceedings. It will further examine the practical application of those policies in the juvenile courts. (2 units)

L260 Pre-Trial Civil Litigation
This course involves an analysis of pre-trial skills and tactics, including fact gathering, investigation, preparation of witnesses, deposition purposes and skills and other discovery devices, negotiations, arbitration, and theory of the case. (3 units)

L264 Insurance Law
This course covers the basics of insurance law including the types of insurance policies used by individuals, corporations, and partnerships, how courts interpret insurance contracts, the insurer’s duty of good faith and fair dealing, and the insurer’s duty to defend and indemnify policyholders. This course addresses practical issues facing attorneys as they defend or litigate against insurance companies. (2 units)

L275 Law and the War on Terror
This course is an in depth analysis of federal and state law as they pertain to the study of terrorism. Topics include search and seizure issues, privacy laws, the U.S. Patriot Act, Constitutional debates in reference to terrorism investigation and prevention, and criminal procedure. An added component to this course is an examination of the historical, political, and ideological motivations behind terrorism for students to better appreciate some of the legal instrumentality involved in national security matters. The required text for this course is Wayne McCormack’s Legal Responses to Terrorism (First Edition), which can only be purchased from the Professor. John Esposito’s Unholy War: Terror In The Name of Islam (Oxford Univ. Press 2002) is to be read prior to the first day of class. (2 units)

L279 Patent Law
This course provides an overview and introduction to the substantive law of patents. The course examines the doctrines of novelty, utility, and obviousness in the context of the application process; disclosure, claiming and statutory bars; the scope of protection afforded by patents; infringement, enforcement, remedies and defenses. (2 units)

This course provides an overview and introduction to the substantive law of copyrights and trademarks under federal law. The course examines the protections afforded through copyrights and trademarks, application processes, practice before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board (TTAB), infringement, enforcement, remedies and defenses. (2 units)

L285 Interactive Media
Interactive Media Law is a survey of legal issues and conflicts arising in the creation and management of websites, social networks; downloadable movies, television, and music; interactive entertainment and virtual worlds; and on-line business transactions. In these areas, we will consider specific legal conflicts arising in tort, contract, intellectual property, Constitutional, and other areas of law. Regardless of where you are in your law school studies, this class should help reinforce laws you already know and provide a brief preview of issues you’ll soon study. (2 units)

L286 National Security Law
This course is an in-depth analysis of select laws and issues pertaining to national security including search and seizure issues, privacy laws, PATRIOT Act, constitutionality of certain terrorism investigation/prevention measures, criminal procedure, and water and food production security. An additional course component is the examination of the historical, political, and ideological motivations behind terrorism for students to better appreciate some of the legal instrumentality involved in national security matters. The required text for this course is Wayne McCormack’s Legal Responses to Terrorism (First Edition), which can only be purchased from the Professor. John Esposito’s Unholy War: Terror In The Name of Islam (Oxford Univ. Press 2002) is to be read prior to the first day of class. (2 units)

L287 Immigration Law
This course provides an overview of immigration and citizenship law. We will discuss general immigration policy issues and how those policies are implemented. We will also spend a substantial amount of time discussing the practical side of immigration. Throughout the semester, we will ask and attempt to answer numerous important and complex questions involving our immigration policies and their effect on people, both inside and outside the United States. (3 units)

L288 Human Rights and Immigration
This course will examine human rights and immigration law with emphasis as to where the two areas intersect. The primary text is a case book that explores human rights from both domestic and international law perspectives. Areas examined will include asylum and refugee status, civil rights in the United States, international criminal law before and after the establishment of the International Criminal Court and detention in the United States immigration system. Historical examples of genocide and gross human rights violations such as the Holocaust, Armenian, Cambodian, Rwandan and Sudanese genocides will also be discussed and analyzed. In addition, discussion through a human rights lens of very recent events in Syria and at the United States border with the influx of unaccompanied minor children will also be part of the reading requirements and class discussions for the course. In addition, to the text students will be required to read excerpts from Immigration Law Stories as well as a course reader with supplemental articles. (3 units)

L290 Immigration Law - Policy and Writing

This course will present an overview of immigration and asylum law as applied to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and Supreme Court appellate practice. This course will be a prerequisite for those students who wish to be considered for the Asylum Moot Court team in the Spring semester. In addition, students will complete under the direction of two professors an actual Ninth Circuit appellate brief which addresses multiple immigration law and asylum law issues. The briefing will be completed by students and will be submitted through the Ninth Circuit pro bono immigration project. The brief after revision will be submitted in an actual Ninth Circuit case for a client seeking asylum and related relief from removal. This is a rare opportunity for students to work on federal appellate issues in an actual case while earning course credit. (2 units)

L291 Secured Transactions

This course is designed to engage students in understanding and performing tasks relating to secured transactions—protecting the rights of the seller of goods or property without immediate payment therefor. The class will address real property transactions and personal property transactions, with the main focus on real property transactions. The goal of the class is to have students understand secured transactions and become capable of conducting any secured transaction upon course completion. (2 units)

L294 Public Entity Liability

This course will examine the procedural and substantive law aspects of public entity civil liability in California. Legal and factual issues related to the prosecution and defense of civil actions against public entities and public employees, in both law and equity, will be addressed. The presentation of claims through appropriate governmental entities, followed by the filing of the complaint, the answer, and other pleadings will be considered. (2 units)

L295 International Law

This course will focus primarily on law and practice before the California Public Utilities Commission (PUC). It will cover the law relating to: (1) energy rates, charges, service and billing disputes; (2) utility facilities, such as municipal franchises, power line extensions, outages, sub-metering, damage caused by utility facilities, and facility construction, maintenance, and repair; (3) PUC procedure, including PUC jurisdiction; rulemaking, ratesetting, investigation and complaint proceedings; PUC decisions and appeals; and rate and tariff creation and modification, and (4) State energy policy, including legislative and PUC initiatives on renewable energy, energy efficiency, smart grid, demand response, electric vehicle infrastructure, and distributed generation. (2 units)

L296 California Energy Law & Practice

This course surveys the foundations and principles of international law, including the nature and sources of international law; the role of NGOs, individuals and corporations; bases of jurisdiction; immunity; human rights; criminal law; law of the sea and environmental law. An additional course component is the examination of the historical, political, and ideological motivations behind international law for students to better appreciate the political instrumentality involved in international matters. (2 units)

L350, L351 Clinical Program

Students work under the direction of an attorney in a variety of established settings, including: the District Attorney’s Offices in Fresno, Tulare, Madera, and Merced counties; the Public Defender’s Offices of Fresno, Tulare, and Merced counties; the Superior Courts of Fresno and Tulare counties; the California Court of Appeal for the Fifth District; the Federal District Court, Eastern Division; the U.S. Attorney General’s Office; the Federal Defender; the California Attorney General’s Office; County Counsel of Fresno County; Fresno City Attorney’s Office; Central California Legal Services; California Rural Legal Assistance. Students may also work in an arranged private legal setting with approval of the Associate Dean. (1 - 4 units)

L381 Directed Research in Legal Problems

Students may undertake in-depth research in particular fields of the law with the consent and direction of an instructor. The results of the research are embodied in a paper. Pass/Fail. (1 unit)

L420 Law Review Editorial Board

Students serving on the San Joaquin Agricultural Law Review Editorial Board may earn units for successful discharge of their editorial duties. (3 units)

L421 Law Review

Law Review provides academic credit to students who have successfully completed a publishable piece for the San Joaquin Agricultural Law Review and satisfactorily performed all duties assigned by the Law Review Editorial Board. (3 units)

The School reserves the right to modify or withdraw courses of instruction, or to change instructors at any time.
Board of Trustees

The Board of Trustees of San Joaquin College of Law is the legally constituted policy-making body of the institution. Members are selected on the basis of their integrity and concern for the community, as well as their ability and desire to work unselfishly for the good of the College.

Admissions

Several academic factors influence the admission decision: undergraduate grade point average (GPA), Law School Admission Test (LSAT) score, a record of improvement in undergraduate study, graduate education, additional training, and continuing education. Honors, publications, and community service are also relevant.

SJCL attempts to discover students who show the capacity to succeed in law. The School’s broad policy includes consideration of community involvement, life experience, employment history and accomplishments, motivation, and maturity – factors which indicate the applicant will add a unique perspective to the student body.

The Law School prefers applicants who hold a bachelor’s degree or the equivalent from an accredited college or university. In some instances, particularly outstanding individuals without a four-year degree will be considered for admission, provided other requirements are met. (See Special Students.)

Preparation for Law School

Because strong analytical and communication skills are vital to the practice of law, students are urged to incorporate writing, logic, philosophy, and research courses into their pre-law curriculum. Please contact the Director of Admissions for additional guidance.

Pre-Admission Counseling

Interviews with the Director of Student Services, Dean, and other staff can be scheduled to explore admission criteria, procedures, finances, and career options. Also, meetings can be arranged with current students or faculty who can share insight into the rewards and demands of law school.

Admission Categories

REGULAR STUDENTS

Individuals who hold a minimum of a two-year degree, or the equivalent, from an approved college or university, or who will complete such a degree prior to entering law school, qualify as Regular Students. Under the rules of the California Committee of Bar Examiners, Regular Student status also may be achieved with 60 qualifying units of college credit.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Exceptional men and women who do not have a baccalaureate degree, associate degree or 60 qualifying units of college credit are classified as Special Students. A limited number of Special Students are accepted each year.

When reviewing Special Student applications, the Admissions Committee stresses a solid LSAT score (50th percentile or better), a GPA of 3.0, or above, on any college coursework completed, maturity, and a record of personal accomplishment.

All Special Students must take three College Level Examination Program (CLEP) tests. Pursuant to Committee of Bar Examiners’ rules, an applicant must take the English Composition or English Composition with Essay and two other examinations, each designed to correspond to full-year courses (6 semester hours each) or four other examinations, each designed to correspond to semester courses (3 semester hours each) that can be selected from any of the following subjects: composition and literature (Humanities examination only), foreign language, history and social sciences, science and mathematics, or business.

Upon completion of their first year, “Special Students” must successfully pass the First-Year Law Student’s Examination administered by the Committee of Bar Examiners in order to proceed.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

Students who are in good standing at either a state-accredited or ABA-accredited law school and are applying for admission with advanced standing are considered Transfer Students. Transfer Students are required to submit official transcripts for all law school work and a letter of good standing from the dean of the law school previously attended. Credit for specific course requirements is established on an individual basis. SJCL maintains a written record of a Transfer Student’s previous education which indicates the credit that has been granted and what work the Transfer Student must complete at SJCL to attain the degree.

Application Procedures

All applicants are required to take the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) and register with CAS. Both are coordinated by Law Services. LSAT registration packets are available at the Law School or at www.lsac.org. Other application procedures are completed through SJCL or online at www.sjcl.edu.

Law School Admission Test (LSAT)
The LSAT is a standardized test of reading comprehension, writing ability, and analytical skills. It is given four times annually at testing centers throughout the United States. San Joaquin College of Law is designated as Test Center #9521.

The LSAT may be taken more than once. LSAT scores are valid for three (3) years.

A sample LSAT test is included in the test registration packet. Additional sample tests are available for a fee on-line at www.lsac.org. There are preparation books available at most large bookstores. There are also preparation courses that the applicant may wish to explore.

Credential Assembly Service (CAS)
All applicants must register with CAS. Law Services provides a uniform analysis of applicant biographical and academic information to law schools.

CAS requires official transcripts from each college or university attended. Transcripts must be sent to SJCL and directly from the issuing schools to CAS. It is advisable to register with CAS as early as possible to allow time for mailing and processing of transcripts.

Once SJCL receives your application we will contact CAS to order your report. When your CAS file is complete and without financial holds, your report will be sent to SJCL. If you reapply to SJCL in a subsequent admission year, you will need to purchase a new report.

For more information about LSAT/CAS, visit their website at www.lsac.org or call 215/968-1001.

Transcripts
Official transcripts also must be sent directly to SJCL from the issuing schools. Transcripts must be received from all colleges or universities attended whether or not a degree was received.

Your Personal Statement
A personal statement is required from all applicants. The statement serves as an example of your ability to express yourself clearly and concisely – skills essential to the practice of law. Your statement should focus on: why you have chosen to study law, why you believe you will be successful in your studies and in the legal profession. Your statement is your opportunity to call attention to particular areas of your background, such as work experience or community activities.

Letters of Recommendation
Applicants to SJCL are required to submit three (3) letters of recommendation. Letters should come from individuals who know you well, excluding family members. These individuals should be able to describe your academic qualifications, analytical ability, communication skills, character and/or accomplishments. Special emphasis is given to letters from persons who have taught or worked with the applicant.

Admission Checklist
- Completed application form with $50 non-refundable application fee
- Personal statement
- Successful completion of the Law School Admission Test (LSAT)
- Registration with CAS
- Official transcripts from all colleges and universities attended (sent both to SJCL and CAS directly from the issuing schools)
- Three (3) letters of recommendation (sent to either SJCL or CAS)

Personal interviews are not required but may be requested under special circumstances. If you are applying for admission under a category other than Regular Student, please contact the Director of Admissions for other specific instructions.

Application Deadline
The application deadline is June 30; however, it is to your advantage to apply early. The Law School operates on a “rolling” admissions process – that is, accepting qualified individuals as their applications are completed. Because there are a limited number of spaces, the class could fill prior to the deadline.

Return of Title IV Funds Policy

Federal Title IV student loan recipients must understand the Federal Return of Title IV Funds policy, to determine the amount of loan funds they are eligible to keep when they completely withdraw from classes. In effect this federal policy requires SJCL to return a percentage of student loan funds used to pay tuition and fees, when a student withdraws before the 60% point of the semester, frequently resulting in the student owing the school money.

Calculation of Amount of Title IV Federal Loans Earned

Through the 60% point in each payment period or semester, a pro rata schedule is used to determine how much federal student loan aid the student has “earned” at the time of withdrawal. The percentage earned is calculated by dividing the number of calendar days in the semester completed as of the last documented day of attendance by the number of calendar days in the semester (excluding scheduled breaks of 5 days or more). The resulting percentage is multiplied by the net amount of financial aid received, or that could have been received, to determine the amount of aid “earned.”

Calculation of Unearned Title IV Federal Loan Funds to be Returned

The difference between the net amount of aid received and the amount earned is the amount of “unearned” aid that must be returned. The school is responsible for returning the lesser of 1) the amount of unearned aid received or 2) the percentage of aid unearned multiplied by the amount of institutional charges (tuition, registration fee and student association fee) for the semester. The student is responsible for returning any remaining unearned financial aid. Students can return unearned loan amounts in accordance with the terms of the promissory note.
The key thing to understand about the RETURN OF TITLE IV FUNDS POLICY is that a student loan recipient who stops attending classes at or before the 60% point in the semester may owe the school money for tuition. The closer to the 60% point a student withdraws the more money he or she may owe the school. However, the earlier a student withdraws the less his or her student loan debt will be, and overall educational costs will be less also.

Students considering withdrawing from San Joaquin College of Law are strongly urged to contact the Financial Aid Office to ensure they understand all of the financial implications. Sample Return of Title IV Fund calculations are available in the Financial Aid Office upon request.

Refund Distribution

Where a refund is applicable, SJCL must return funds in the following order under federal regulations:

- Federal Direct Unsubsidized
- Federal Grad PLUS
- Other Federal, Title IV assistance programs
- Other Federal, State, private or institutional assistance programs
- Student

Student loan recipients are urged to consult with the Financial Aid Office prior to withdrawing.

If a student's LDA (last date of attendance) for the semester is after the 60% point the student has earned all of the Title IV loan funds and no funds are returned.

If a student's LDA (last date of attendance) for the enrolled period is on or before the 60% point the unearned portion of the Title IV loan funds must be returned. Refer to the Return of Title IV Funds policy or the Financial Aid office for further instructions on calculating return of “unearned” loan funds.

Adds, Drops, Withdrawals, and Refunds of Classes

Add/Drop Policy

A student may ADD or DROP an individual class to his/her educational program in accordance with the following policy. If, in adding or dropping a class, a student’s course load for the semester either exceeds the maximum, or drops below the minimum number of units allowed per semester (see “Unit Registration Requirements” in the Juris Doctor Program section of this handbook), permission of the Dean or Dean’s designee must be obtained.
A student may ADD a class prior to the first meeting of that class. After the first meeting, no class may be added without the written permission of the instructor. No class may be added after the third class meeting. Externship courses are an exception and may be added at any time. A student must register and pay for externship units prior, to beginning the work for which they plan to seek credit.

Whenever a student adds a class, he/she is responsible for payment of the full tuition for that class. Substituting one class for another is considered adding a class.

To DROP a class, the student must notify the Registrar of the law program in writing of his/ her decision. A class dropped after the second week of the semester will be recorded as a “W” on the official transcript. A student may drop a class no later than two weeks prior to the final examination. In some classes, like Moot Court and Trial Practice, special deadlines will be announced. Failure to drop formally from a class by the established deadline, results in a failing grade for that class.

Tuition refunds for dropped classes will be calculated from the date of the written notice. Any refund due a student will be paid within 30 days after written notification of the student’s decision to drop is received. Consult the Dropping a Class Refund Schedule below to determine periods eligible for a refund. CAUTION: Reduction in units may jeopardize your financial aid.

Schedule Change Fee

A student may make a change (add and/or drop a class, change sections) in his or her academic schedule pursuant to the Add/Drop Policy. A student may make a change after close of Registration and up to the start date of the semester without fee by notifying the Registrar (Joyce Morodomi) via email. Any change of academic schedule made after the semester start date will result in the student being assessed a Schedule Change Fee of $25 per Add/Drop Form. Clinical units may be added or dropped at any time without fee.

Dropping a Class Refund Schedule

The following schedule applies when a student drops an individual class but does not completely withdraw from school. A student completely withdrawing from school should consult the SJCL Withdrawal Refund Schedule.

Complete Withdrawal From SJCL Policy and Procedures

Student Notice to SJCL of Complete Withdrawal

Official notice of complete withdrawal from school must be made in writing, electronically, or verbally to one of the following individuals:

- Director of Student Services
- Financial Aid Director
- Chief Financial Officer
- Dean
- Dean for Academic Affairs
Students are strongly advised to submit a written notice of their withdrawal. Official withdrawal forms are available at the reception desk. The SJCL Withdrawal Refund will be calculated from the last documented day of attendance.

Complete Withdrawal Refund Policy

A student who elects to completely withdraw from all classes at SJCL may receive a refund of tuition and fees, if eligible, in accordance with the following policy. Refunds are calculated based upon the total semester cost of tuition and fees less an administrative fee equal to the lesser of 5% or $100. The refund policy is subject to change in accordance with federal and state regulations. For specific information regarding a student's potential refund, the student is strongly urged to consult the Financial Aid or Accounting Office prior to withdrawing.

The following schedule applies only to Complete Withdrawal from the fall, spring or summer session at SJCL. (The 90% tuition/fee refund is not applicable to the summer term due to its length.) Students receiving Federal Direct loans must also refer to the new federal Return of Title IV Funds policy.

* All calculations are in calendar days.

 Tuition and fees refund % is calculated less the administrative fee

Leave of Absence

A student may be granted an administrative leave of absence of up to one year. No leave of absence will be granted which extends a student’s studies beyond five years, after beginning the study of law. A student contemplating taking a leave of absence should seek both academic and financial aid counseling.

The Dean’s permission is required for a leave of absence to be granted. In order to be granted a leave of absence the student:

- Must be in good academic standing, and
- Must make a written request to the Dean, explaining the reason(s) for the requested leave of absence. The request must indicate the date the leave is to commence and end, and be signed by the student. If the request is not made prior to the proposed commencement date, the student should also explain the delay in making the written request. The Dean’s decision is final.

Student Honor Code

SJCL strives for the highest standards in ethics, professionalism and integrity. Upon admission, each student is expected to act with utmost honesty, fairness and concern for his/her professional reputation and the reputation of the school. A student who witnesses any unethical conduct, as defined below, by another student should promptly report such conduct to his/her professor or a member of the SJCL administration. Any attempt to retaliate against a person reporting an Honor Code violation is strictly prohibited.
Policy of Non-Discrimination
San Joaquin College of Law provides equality of opportunity in legal education for all persons, including faculty, employees, applicants for admission, enrolled students and alumni, without discrimination on the basis of race/color, religious creed, national origin/ancestry, age, gender, mental or physical disability, medical condition, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or any other basis protected by federal, state or local law or ordinance or regulation. SJCL does not discriminate on the basis of any of the above characteristics in administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and any other school administered programs.

Reservation of Rights
This publication is intended to serve as a general source of information for prospective students. This catalog does not create a contract between SJCL and any applicants, students, or graduates. The School reserves the right to change any of its policies, without prior notice, as it deems necessary or desirable. The School further reserves the right to refuse admission to any applicant at the discretion of the Dean or the Admissions Committee and to disqualify, discontinue, or exclude any student at the discretion of the Dean, faculty, administration or Honor Board.

This catalog supersedes all previous catalogs. This catalog is supplemented by the rules and regulations stated in The Student Handbook and by posted notices. Where conflict exists between any of these sources, the most recent rule or policy is controlling. Upon acceptance and registration, it is the responsibility of the student to familiarize himself or herself with all the rules, regulations, and policies of the Law School and the rules of the California Committee of Bar Examiners as to admission to the practice of law.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act
San Joaquin College of Law complies with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. Congress passed this act to protect the privacy of student records and establish a method for student inspection of their own files and records. San Joaquin College of Law will release transcripts only upon written authorization. Students who wish to inspect their records must visit the Registrar Office. Students have the right, in the event of alleged noncompliance with the act, to file a complaint with the Dean.

Practice Outside California
“The State Bar of California’s website (www.calbar.ca.gov) contains information on the passage rates of graduates of this law school and other California law schools on the California Bar Examination.

Study at, or graduation from, this law school may not qualify a student to take the bar examination or be admitted to practice law in jurisdictions other than California. A student who intends to seek admission to practice law outside of California should contact the admitting authority in that jurisdiction for information regarding its education and admission requirements.

SJCL Bar Pass Rate
Cumulatively 80% of SJCL graduates who have taken the Bar Examination have passed. Statistics for each administration of the Bar Exam can be found at the State Bar’s website: www.calbar.ca.gov/admissions.
