

Hugh W. Goodwin
1921-2004

Judge Goodwin received his B.A. Degree in political science from Howard University in Washington, D.C. and his J.D. Degree from Harvard University Law School at a time when very few African-Americans considered entering the legal profession. Judge Goodwin was admitted to the practice of law in California in June, 1949 and opened a private practice in Fresno, specializing in discrimination suits. Judge Goodwin was the first African-American attorney and the first African-American judge in Fresno County.

Judge Goodwin joined the Fresno County Public Defender's Office in 1952 and gained a reputation as a formidable, but very fair, trial attorney. He stayed at the Public Defender's Office for over two decades.

Judge Goodwin was appointed to the Fresno Municipal Court in 1976 by then Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr., and during his tenure he presided over a variety of important cases, showing sensitivity and caring in his judgments.

Following his retirement from the bench, he again went into private practice in Fresno, specializing in criminal defense until his retirement from the practice of law in 1996.
